THE PROBLEM

Why consultancies switch to Summit

An immigration office lives on WhatsApp. Enquiries arrive on staff phones at all hours; the fast ones get answered, the rest go cold, and when a salesperson leaves, their conversations leave with them. Managers cannot see who replied, how fast, or why a lead was lost. Finance and processing keep their own files for the same client.

One shared WhatsApp inbox

On your business number. Every message is saved, searchable and owned by the company — not by a phone.

An assistant that answers first

Replies within seconds in the customer's language, from facts you approve, books consultations into real availability, and hands over to a person the moment it should.

Fair, measured distribution

New leads go round-robin to the agents who are online. Every reply is timed against the service level you set.

One record per person

Lead, consultation, agreement, payment, receipt and case hang off one reference code, visible to every department with the right permission.

Reports that arrive by themselves

Daily WhatsApp and call reports, per-agent performance, lead sources and conversion — in your inbox every morning.

Built for immigration work

Programs, document checklists, consultation fees, installments and judicial review cases are first-class, not add-ons.

THE DEMO

What you saw

- The dashboard an owner sees at 9 am: new leads, conversations waiting, appointments, money received.
- The WhatsApp inbox: thousands of conversations with status, owner and outcome tags, filtered to unread and uncontacted in one click.
- A real conversation handled by the assistant at night: questions answered, a voice note transcribed, a consultation booked, the chat handed to a human.
- The lead record behind the chat: which ad it came from, who owns it, follow-ups, appointments, notes.
- The manager view: who is online, who replies on time, who converts — and the settings that decide who receives new leads.
- The agent view: a deliberately simple screen with only that person's conversations and today's follow-ups.

The shared inbox. Voice notes appear as transcripts, the assistant's replies are marked, and a human can take over any chat with one click.

How the assistant behaves. It answers only from the knowledge your team approves — programs, fees, documents, office hours. It never promises an outcome and never asks for passport numbers, card details or passwords. It books into real availability, hands over when the customer asks or when it is unsure, and every reply it writes is marked in the inbox so managers can review its work.

THE PRODUCT

What is included

WhatsApp inbox and AI assistant

Shared inbox on your number; instant first reply 24/7 in English, Urdu and Roman Urdu; voice-note transcription; consultation booking; human handover; approved templates for reminders outside the 24-hour window.

Leads and follow-ups

Every enquiry, ad click, website form and walk-in becomes a lead with an owner, a status and an outcome. Follow-up queue, SLA timers, round-robin, lead caps per agent.

Appointments and reception

Consultations booked by the assistant or by staff, reminders, walk-in log, consultation fees.

Agreements and finance

Service agreements with installments, invoices, verified payments, official receipts, finance approvals, payment history and audit trail.

Processing and documents

Case pipeline per client with document checklists, status per stage and processing reports.

Marketing

Meta (Facebook / Instagram) click-to-WhatsApp ads and lead forms feed leads automatically, with cost and conversion per ad.

Management and HR

Sales overview per agent, daily reports by email, activity logs, attendance, team directory, roles and permissions.

Mobile

Companion app for staff on the move — the same records, the same permissions.

Your data. Your records live in your own cloud database. Access is by role: sales see their leads, finance sees finance, managers see everything. Every sensitive action — document views, payment verification, exports — is logged with who did it and when. The demo you saw runs on sample data: a real system's history with every name, number and document replaced by realistic substitutes.

TRANSPARENT PRICING

Running costs

Summit is a subscription. Hosting, backups, updates and support are part of it — there are no servers to buy or maintain. The only costs that vary with your volume are the ones below, and each is billed at cost with no mark-up.

What	What it covers	Typical cost
Summit subscription	The platform for your whole team: inbox, AI assistant, leads, appointments, agreements, finance, processing, reports, mobile app. Hosting in Summit's cloud, daily backups, updates and support included.	Fixed monthly fee per office — quoted on your call (see below).
WhatsApp messaging (Meta)	Meta charges per message on the WhatsApp Business Platform. Customer-initiated chats (the bulk of an immigration office's traffic) come with a monthly free allowance per number; business-initiated reminders and marketing broadcasts are charged per message.	Pakistan rate card, approx.: service/utility messages US$ 0.01–0.015 each after the first 1,000 free per number per month; marketing broadcasts about US$ 0.047 each. Set by Meta and subject to change.
AI assistant usage	Language-model usage for the replies, transcripts and summaries the assistant produces. Usage-based and billed at cost.	A full conversation handled by the assistant typically costs a few US cents or less.
Meta advertising (optional)	Your own click-to-WhatsApp and lead-form ad spend. Summit tracks cost per lead per ad; it does not charge on top.	Your ad budget — unchanged.
One-time setup	Number connection, assistant knowledge base, lead import, team training.	Quoted on your call (see below).

How to read the WhatsApp line. Most of an office's messages are replies to customers who wrote first, which is where the free allowance applies. Reminders and follow-ups the system sends on its own (appointment reminders, re-engagement of old leads) are the per-message items. We estimate your monthly Meta cost from your real volume during the kick-off call. Meta publishes the current rates at business.whatsapp.com.

Getting started

Typical time from kick-off to live is days, not months. The assistant learns from day one, and you can change its knowledge and tone at any time without technical help.

1

Kick-off call

We agree the scope, the team and the launch date.

You bring: who is in the WhatsApp rota, your working hours, your branches.

2

Connect your number

Your WhatsApp Business number is connected to Summit; your existing number can be moved.

You bring: access to your Meta Business account — we guide you through it.

3

Teach the assistant

We load your programs, fees, documents and office details into the approved knowledge base.

You bring: your current fee list and the facts you want customers to hear.

4

Import and go live

Existing leads are imported; the inbox and reports go live; your team is trained in one session.

You bring: a spreadsheet of existing leads (optional).

Try it yourself. Ask your Summit representative for a personal demo link. It signs you straight in at demo.summitautomates.com for a limited time, as an admin or as a sales agent, so you can explore the inbox, the lead records and the reports at your own pace. Anything you change in the demo is reset automatically.

NEXT STEPS

Let's put it on your number.

- A short follow-up call to answer your questions and confirm scope.
- A trial on your own WhatsApp number, with your own fee list in the assistant.
- A go-live date that suits your team.
